Inadequate insurance coverage and financing results in significant financial hardship for many families raising children and youth with special health care needs (CYSHCN).

CYSHCN
Most CYSHCN have insurance, but having health insurance does not necessarily mean the coverage is adequate or affordable. Being insured is only part of the story. Many families make difficult sacrifices to help ensure adequate care for their CYSHCN.

FAMILIES
Inadequate health care coverage is a serious problem for a large percentage of families raising CYSHCN. Not every service or support CYSHCN need is paid for by insurance and as a result, families often incur large out-of-pocket (OOP) costs, resulting in financial hardship and medical debt.

PAYERS & POLICYMAKERS
Adequacy is a problem for both publicly and privately insured CYSHCN. Implementing financing strategies aimed at covering more services and reducing families’ OOP expenses could help address higher costs later as the result of absent or delayed care.

PROVIDERS
Adequacy is composed of three elements: benefits (what a child needs is covered), access (children can get the services they need by being able to see appropriate providers) and affordability (OOP expenses are reasonable).
